WILSON AIMS GUN AT TARIFF

GLOUCESTER, New Jersey, Aug. 15.—Woodrow Wilson, governor of New Jersey and Democratic nominee for the presidency, fired the opening gun of his campaign for the White House tonight. In it he followed the lines of the campaign which he himself laid down in his address of acceptance of the nomination; immediately after the convention.

Mr. Wilson aimed his attack at the protective tariff which he declared is an instrument devised solely for the benefit of special "partnerships" and not for the good of the people as a whole. Continuing he said that the "merchant does not benefit by the tariff but the manufacturer, who is enabled to charge anything he pleases for his product."

In taking up other subjects Mr. Wilson touched upon the need of a mercantile marine, now that the opening of the canal is drawing so close. If we are to profit by the canal, said he, we must be prepared to take advantage. The canal, he added, properly handled will bring untold prosperity to the farmer.

Governor Wilson had a jolt for the express companies which he declared have been fighting for years to prevent the farmer and business man from enjoying the benefits of the parcel post system.

NO SUGAR LEGISLATION AT PRESENT SESSION.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—There will be no sugar legislation this session, unless the political wise ones are out in their predictions. The disagreement over the sugar tariff persists and this, it is held here, will vitiate any attempt to put through a sugar bill.

He says that he murdered the child because of her "termagant" mother, who would not let him alone.

It is officially announced that the Austrian foreign minister, Count von Berchtold, is sounding the powers as to the advisability of encouraging Turkey in her present policy of decentralization, arguing that could Turkey be induced to grant the reasonable reform desired by the Serbians, Bulgarians and other Macedonian races, it would pave a way for peace between Italy and Turkey.

The funniest part of the equipment is the umbrella which every Hanesse soldier carries. BRIGHT'S DISEASE

We submit the following as our ideas of the probabilities under Fulton's Renal Compound in Bright's and kidney disease:

Where patients are seriously weakened and crises are expected, probably not more than ten to twenty per cent respond. Where physicians aid by holding up the heart, increasing the eliminations, etc., the efficiency can be increased. In cases where patients have from thirty to sixty days of life we look for correspondingly better results.

Where patients do not wait until bedridden and take the treatment on the appearance of the disease it is our belief that most cases respond with final recovery or prolongation of life. Albumen, casts and dropsy do not prevent recovery, provided the renal inflammation is attacked before the heart and recuperative powers are too greatly weakened.

Fulton's Renal Compound is used both with and without physicians' prescriptions. The motive of the Renal Compound being to relax the kidney (the Old School having nothing to reduce inflamed kidneys) it will be seen that the heart, eliminative and tonic treatment usually prescribed in Bright's and kidney disease do not conflict but are often required in extreme cases. It can be had at Honolulu Drug Co.

Ask for pamphlet or write John J. Fulton Company, San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with physicians and patients not improving the third week to write us. Cases who have obstinate cases and

UMBRELLA CARRIED BY CHINESE SOLDIER GUARDING STATION

HONGKONG, July 30.—Owing to the unrest which still characterizes a great portion of China, it is deemed necessary to have military guards at all railway stations.

This gives a touch of picturesque to railway travelling which it does not always possess, and it is intensely interesting to observe the condition of the equipment of the soldiers. In most cases they are barefooted, perhaps they wear puttees, or perhaps their blue cotton trousers hang loosely about their ankles. Their coats or tunics are often torn and tattered, but their military hats are invariably in good order.

The funniest part of the equipment is the umbrella which every Hanesse soldier carries. When an official passes these men may be seen startling to attention with a rifle in one hand and an umbrella in the other. They don't seem to be conscious of the ridiculousness of their appearance. It is said that during the war the Hanesse soldiers carried umbrellas trapped on their backs.

USE FOR THE ANONYMOUS LETTER

It is a pity that the anonymous letter, by a long alliance with libel and blackmail, has sunk out of reach of the respectable. A force which might have been used for good has thus been lost to the community. There is no reason why the anonymous letter should not have become as necessary a part of our social as the anonymous book review has of our literary life. Criticism, admittedly helpful to the field of manners and morals; yet few individuals in maturity, except those in public life, are subjected to this salutary process, although it is a commonplace that the older we grow the more we need it. In youth, under our present mild system, discipline is primarily criticism; and here no false reticence on the part of schoolmaster or parent prevents children from knowing whenever they have committed a breach of taste or of the Ten Commandments. For the first fifteen years of their lives they live in the love of a public, small, but conscientiously determined to express the minutest comment. But as we grow older, the voice of admonition grows fainter and fainter, and its tones have entirely died away by the time we reach the age when our mistakes may have the most serious consequences. Many of the faults of old age are doubtless due to this condition. One of the first uses most of us make of independence is to repel all hostile criticism, to secure ourselves for the future against one touch of that molding process which has made us as we are. We become reticent, not to say secretive; refuse to discuss our opinions and actions with those who disagree with us and, in extreme cases withdraws from those friendships in which the faintest critical flavor may be detected.

Many of us, it is true, can count among our nearest and dearest some people of sufficient candor, courage and skill to convey even a disagreeable truth—who, for the sake of the love they bear us, will risk not only a painful interview, but a possible breach. But, unhappily, not only are our nearest and dearest the last people to see us as we really are, but their utterances cannot always achieve the terrible finality of those of an utter stranger. And that is where the anonymous letter might be useful.—Scribner.
